FANNY M. JUDD DEAD.

That death loves a shining mark has had striking examplification once more in the passing away of Mrs. Fanny M. Judd, her demise occurring suddenly, after a brief illness from lung trouble. The funeral service took place in the ward meetinghouse last Saturday, the 17th Inst. The house was filled to its capacity with sympathizing friends. All the speakers eulogized the beautiful life and character of the deceased, Mrs. Judd was born at Payson, Utah county, Sept. 17, 1862 being 42 years old at her death. She leaves a husband and eight children to mourn her demise, the youngest an infant. Her oldest son Riley is now on a mission laborning in Texas.

DAILY GRAIN LETTER.

Messrs. Logan-Bryan of Chicago telegraph their local correspondents, James A. Pollock & Co., over their private wire, on the grain and provision situa. tion, as follows:

Chicago, Dec. 20.-Wheat-Market opened higher on scattered commission house buying and advanced to a full cent above Saturday's close. Profit taking developed at this point, which caused a moderate setback. The tone all through the session, while extremely dull, showed a very firm undertone. A significent feature in the trade. A significent feature in the trade was the advance in Dec. wheat making the spread at one time only the between that option and the May. The relative position of both options closed unchanged from Saturday at one cent spread. The impression seems to be reeping into the trade that the large interests popularly supposed to bedesirous also of controlling the cash situation, which would strengthen their position materially. Aside from this there are no new features in the market. Trade has ruled extremely quiet all through today's session. We con-tinue to feel the market as yet is a scalping affair and likely to continue scalping affair and likely to continue receiving good support from strong people on sinking spells.

Corn.—New Orleans reports stock of corn increased 414,000 last week and that they are beginning to feel the effect of the large movement from northern territory. Broomhall reports a smaller spot demand in Liverpool, Cash houses have been good sellars of the houses have been good sellers of the May option presumably against country purchases. Cash corn quoted 1/2 cent under Saturday's closts. While the tone was strong on the whole there seems to be very little pressure in either direction. We continue to feel that on the breaks it will not hurt much to buy the future options for moderate profit.

Oats.—This market continues in the same ofd rut, with no special feature attached to the trading. Some disappointment exists over the small de-crease in the visible as the trade looke; for as large a decrease as last week. Until the visible shows some indication of better consumptive demand we feel market will continue to be a dull narrow affair.

Provisions.—This market was without special feature aside from small offerings all through the list. There is no indication of packers changing thier position in the market. We still feel, however, that it won't hurt much to buy provisions on the breaks,
